1. On 2 and 3 November, YIM Chien-ying, Governor of Kwangtung addressed mass meetings of government employees and political workers among the student and teacher groups.* He said that the North Koreans are suffering under American aggression, that the war was spreading to the China border of the Yalu River, and quoted the historical saying that if the lips are gone the teeth have no protection. He further said that China cannot merely look on while its neighboring friend is being conquered; China must first give material aid to the North Koreans and help drive the Americans out of Korea; and then China must defend itself against the infiltration and attacks of underground workers.
2. The South China Sub-Bureau on 11 November issued an emergency order to political workers in Hong Kong and Kowloon to be ready to return to the China mainland on one day's notice. The reason for the order is that the United States and Britain intend to invade China. If this war starts suddenly the political workers are to assemble at Lohu (羅湖) for emergency evacuation; transportation is to be provided by the Sub-Bureau.
3. The Kwangtung Provincial Government has ordered all Government agencies to prepare to move important documents and files to Kukong before the end of November.
4. Kwangsi authorities have ordered all organizations in Kueilin to prepare to move important documents and files to Kueip'ing (110-05, 23-24) before 25 November for safekeeping.
